Greg McLawsen is a Washington attorney passionate about bringing technology and innovation into law firms. Greg is the founder of Sound Immigration, a paperless, cloud-based and decentralized law firm serving clients across the state. A frequent speaker locally and nationally, Greg publishes regularly with entities such as the Washington Bar, ABA and multiple national journals.

Speaking engagements

Greg is available for CLE presentations for organizations across Washington State. There is no speaking fee for bar associations and non-profits. Greg speaks at in-person events and can also host webinars for up to 250 attendees at no cost.

The Washington Bar Association has previously approved all presentations for 1 CLE credit.

Innovative law practice management

Agile project management for lawyers. Learn how to implement visual work-in-production systems developed in the manufacturing and high-tech sectors.

How to run a paperless law office from India. Reduce stress and increase profitability by moving into the digital era.

Free and low-cost technology for law firms. Bringing greater efficiency and ease into your practice doesn't have to be expensive.

Immigration for any lawyer

Form I-864 and the right to (indefinite) spousal support. All family law attorney need to understand how their U.S. client could be indefinitely liable to a foreign spouse.

Spotting immigration issues in your cases. Even if you do not practice immigration law, these issues may come up in your cases.

U.S. immigration law in 60 minutes. Most attorneys have had zero education in this area – understand the basis of our immigration system and its lingo.
